Governor of Nebraska Rides With President, Then Says "I'm for La Follette"

REACHES DENVER THIS A.M.

Low Schedule Will Change Plans for Entertainment of Chief Executive

STASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 2.—President Taft sped across Nebraska today, and tonight is on his way to Denver, where he is due at 9 o'clock tomorrow.

President Taft spent a part of the afternoon in Omaha, stopping for two hours at Lincoln, the home of his former presidential adversary, William Bryan, and was entertained here this morning at a banquet.

Mr. Bryan helped to welcome the president in Lincoln, and proposed the health of the chief executive in "the average upon which the Almighty has the seal of his approval," the toast was drunk in sparkling water.

Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan exchanged felicitations, and seemed as always to enjoy their meeting.

The entertainment of the president in Omaha, at Lincoln and here to-night is of a non-political character, but the atmosphere was surcharged with politics in all three cities. At Lincoln seemed that the entire population turned out. But the Republican leaders with whom the president and Secretary Hilges talked were anything but optimistic over the prospect of triumphing the party differences in a state.

Governor Aldrich accompanied the president on his trip from Omaha, but the presidential party had scarcely left Lincoln before there was made public a letter from the governor announcing that he would support Senator La Follette for the presidential nomination, and his decision to do so was unequivocal.

At Omaha and Lincoln, Mr. Taft spoke on "World Peace."

Gives Bryan Credit
The president declared that international peace was one subject on which he and Mr. Bryan agreed, to the pleasure of the latter's fellow townsmen. Mr. Taft gave Mr. Bryan credit for having suggested one of the most important provisions in the pending treaties of arbitration with Great Britain and France.

He referred to the clause creating a high commission to consider questions of difference, before they finally are referred to an arbitral court and to the further provision that this commission should take a year to consider its findings and recommendations.

In his discussion of the treaties to which Mr. Taft referred to Japan, and expressed the hope that that country might come into such an agreement with the United States.

"The whole world looks to this country to lead in the matter of peace," said the president. "The other nations know that we have no entangling alliances; they know we are a great nation."

OREGON SHORTLINE ON THE OFFENSIVE
Gives Strikers Chance to Return to Work or Never Come Back

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 2.—The Oregon Short Line railroad today took the offensive for the first time since the shophmen laid down their tools last Saturday. A circular letter to the strikers promised them employment if they returned to work on or before Wednesday, but stated that those who did not return then, need never apply for further employment with the road.

The strikers claim that the shops are in a crippled condition and say that they are in a position to stand a long time.

WAR PROMISES TO END SOON

LOOK FOR PEACE WHEN ITALY HAS TRIPOLI

Offer of Intervention by Powers Will Then Be Accepted, Is Belief

LONDON, Oct. 2.—From present appearances, the Turkish-Italian war promises to be the shortest and most bloodless war in history. This far its distinguishing characteristic has been the absence of fighting, and with German, as a peacemaker, it may end before it begins.

It is considered that no mediation will be accepted by the Italian occupation of the Tripoli coast. The negotiations will be much easier, and are likely to be accomplished if Turkey will accept money indemnity for allowing Italy to establish herself in Tripoli. The news that is filtering in is that Tripoli has not been bombarded and is not likely to be, if the Turks do not oppose the landing. Warlike operations are confined to a blockade and the capture on either side of a few small vessels. It is now admitted from the Turkish side that Prevesa, in European Turkey, is not occupied. Italy's announcement that she has no intention to carry the war into European Turkey will do much to allay apprehension over Balkan or other complications.

Turkey's ministerial difficulties have not yet been solved, but generally the situation looks more hopeful.

Calls Reports Premature
CHASSO, Switzerland, on the Italian frontier, Oct. 2.—Advises, which emanate from official circles in Rome say reports that the powers are contemplating intervention in the war between Italy and Turkey are premature.

It is added that a majority of the powers, when advised that war had been declared, notified Italy they would observe neutrality.

From information received in Rome, doubt has arisen there as to the accuracy of the report that the entire Turkish fleet had entered the Dardanelles, and it is assumed, was sent abroad to deceive the Italians, the idea of the Turks being to cause them to relax their vigilance and cease their chase of Turkish warships that have not yet reached a zone of safety.

Other reports from Rome indicate that the Italian government circles are entirely indifferent to what is termed "the hostile and perhaps interested adverse comment of certain newspapers" on Italy's movements in the Adriatic sea against Turkey.

At the navy department it was asserted that Italy's diplomatic preparation for the military movement against Turkey was completed by the powers, and that Italy has respected the conditions under which she received this assent.

It was added she will continue to respect these terms, which include limitation of the scene of the conflict to Tripoli, and to avoid carrying the hostilities into European or Asiatic Turkey.

U. S. in No Hurry to Act

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The state department has decided to await the action of European nations more directly interested in the war between Italy and Turkey before issuing a neutrality proclamation. The document has been prepared but a restraining factor is found in the peculiar attitude of the Turkish government. It being understood that the Porte has

AUSTRIA SENDS A WARNING TO ITALY

Says Naval Operations in Vicinity of Albanian Coast Must Cease

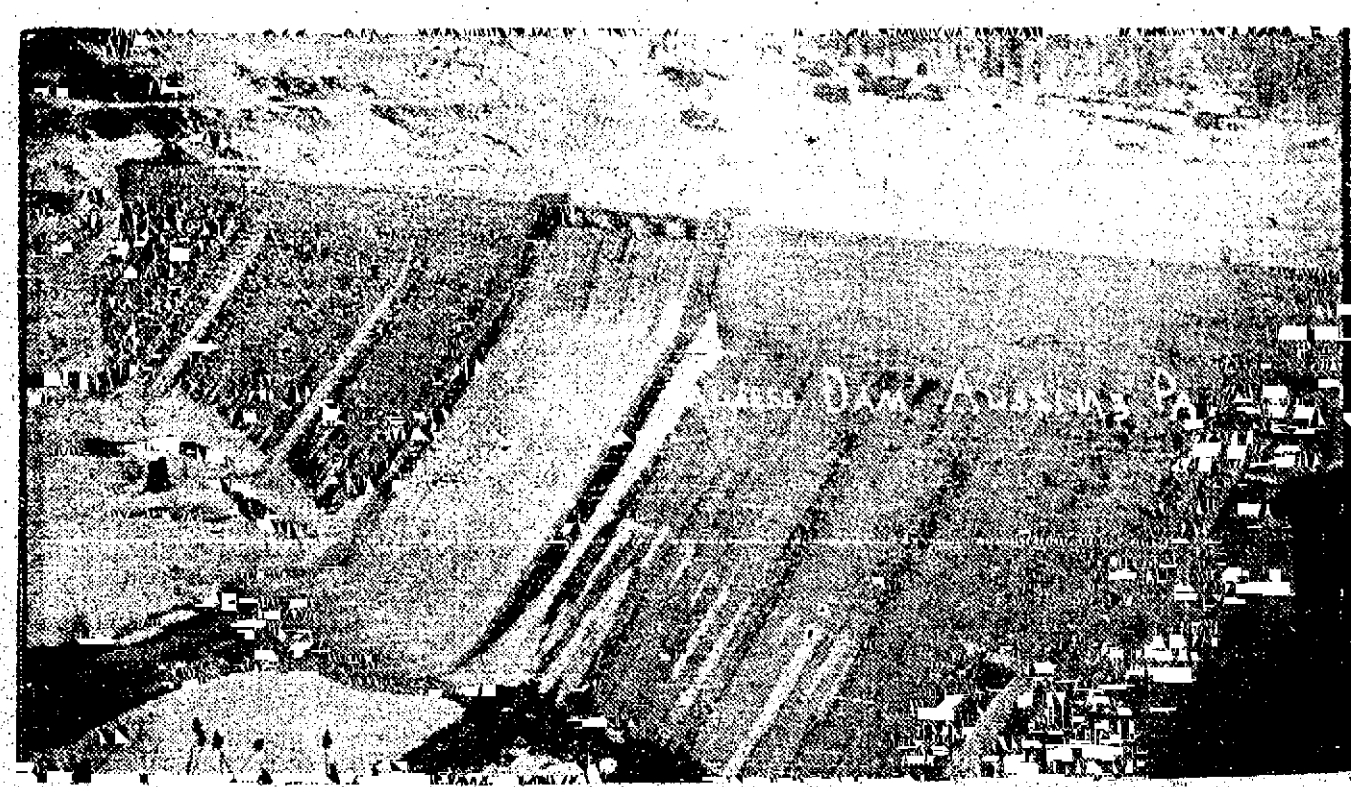

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A dispatch received here by a news agency from Vienna says: "That Count Von Aehrenthal, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, has informed the Italian ambassador that any further actions by Italians on the Albanian coast will make it necessary for Austria to dispatch warships thither."

Count Von Aehrenthal asked the ambassador how he reconciled Italy's naval movements in the vicinity of Albania with her declarations that she was keeping her hands off the Balkan peninsula.

Turkey Hurries Mobilization
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2.—Mobilization is being hurried. Turkish troops have been sent to Macedonia, and along the Greek frontier. In spite of the government's pacific assurances, the fear persists that if the war with Italy is prolonged, a frontier incident will occur which will unavoidably precipitate a Turco-Greek war.

It might even happen that public opinion will force the government to seek in a war with the Balkans compensations for its humiliation in failing to resist the aggression of Italy in Tripoli. Numerous telegrams reaching the Porte from the provinces describe the feeling there as running high. The people are clamoring for resistance and reprisals against the Italians.

The Turkish government has ordered coal exporters to hold all "Cardiff coal."

MAN FROM DENVER FOR POLICE CHIEF?

Thomas W. Baird, for many years connected with the police and sheriff's offices in Denver, is a possibility for recommendation and appointment to the position of chief of police of Colorado Springs.

Baird has come down from Denver with strong recommendations as to his ability and character. He spent much of his time yesterday afternoon with J. A. Himebaugh, commissioner of public safety, and there will be further conferences today.

"The fact that Baird is in town in connection with the chief of police appointment should not be taken to mean that he will be recommended," said Commissioner Himebaugh yesterday. "His name was mentioned to me as a man well qualified for the place and I am glad to see him and talk the matter over. That is as far as we have gone up to the present time. I have made it clear that I am under obligations to one in the matter of recommendations, and Mr. Baird understands the condition of affairs thoroughly. I have made no promises to anyone concerning the position, and when the time comes I will recommend the man whom I think is the best man for the place."

Baird has had several years' experience in various departments of police work and for five years was under sheriff in Denver. Recently he took a government position in Denver, and his recommendation to Commissioner Himebaugh came from a former Colorado Springs man who now makes his home in the capital city.

BIG DEFAULT JUDGMENT
DENVER, Oct. 2.—A default judgment for $58,319.19 against the Ontario Colorado Gold Mining company has been given G. A. Richardson and Henry Richardson, doing business as James Richardson & Sons, in Judge Greeley W. Whitford's division of the district court. The plaintiffs said they advanced that amount of money to the defendants.

MRS. INEZ LEWIS NEAR DEATH WHEN AUTO RUNS INTO BARBED WIRE FENCE; LIFE SAVED BY CORSET STAY

Had it not been for the extraordinary strength of the corset worn by Mrs. Inez Lewis, county superintendent of schools, her body would have been cut in two at the waist, as the result of an automobile accident in which Mrs. Lewis was the victim near Falcon yesterday afternoon.

As it was Mrs. Lewis was severely injured and is confined to her bed at 216 East Espanola street, where, by orders from her physician, no one was allowed to enter last night save those who are in attendance upon her.

Her body, just above the hips, is badly lacerated, and she is suffering from a bad contusion of the left hip. Her physician stated late last night that in spite of the severe nervous shock which Mrs. Lewis underwent, it is probable that her injuries will not prove extremely serious unless unlooked-for complications arise.

Pitches Over Embankment
While riding in a livery car en route to Falcon, where she was going to inspect the school, the chauffeur lost control of the machine and it started on a plunge down a 15-foot embankment. At the side of the road was a barbed wire fence which the car struck full force. So great was the impact of the automobile that the top wire, striking the wind shield of the car, snapped it clean from its supports and hurled it over the heads of the driver and Mrs. Lewis.

Resulting that the car had become unmanageable, Mrs. Lewis rose to her feet in an attempt to leap from the rushing machine. The top wire of the fence caught her with great force about the waist.

The rusty prongs of the wire struck through her clothing and, fastened themselves in her flesh between the stays of her corset. Between the plunging car and the resisting wire, Mrs. Lewis was hurled against the back of the seat where the wire grew so tight as to crush the breath from her body. The tough stays of her corset checked the inroad of the wire through her waist. Tighter and tighter

National Committee G.O.P. Meets Dec. 12

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—After a meeting here today between ex-Governor John F. Hill of Augusta, Me., acting chairman, and William Hayward of New York city, secretary of the Republican National committee, a call was issued for a meeting of the committee in Washington on December 12.

At this meeting the claims of various cities for the national convention will be heard and the place and time will be decided. Among others, Denver, Buffalo, St. Louis and Chicago will be applicants.

HELD BY CORONER'S JURY

DIXON, Ill., Oct. 2.—A coroner's jury at Polo, Ill., late today, ordered Dr. Harry Elgin Webster held in the Ogles county jail at Oregon, Ill., without bail on a charge of murdering his second wife, Bessie Kent Webster. Webster did not appear at the inquest in Polo. Members of the coroner's jury were taken in automobiles to the jail at Oregon where Webster acknowledged his confession made in Chicago.

Mathias Meyers was the first witness and told of finding the body on Friday when he and his wife were on a "outing" expedition. Mrs. Meyers corroborated the testimony of her husband.

Sheriff Delaney, who was present when the confession was made, told of the history of the crime and confession and exhibited to the jurors an ordinary pocket knife, which he said Dr. Webster had given him with the information that it was the weapon with which he had killed the woman.

State's Attorney Emerson is rushing preparations for the trial and hopes to have an indictment returned by the regular grand jury which is now in session.

IDAHO SPRINGS WANTS TO BE A COUNTY SEAT

GEORGETOWN, Colo., Oct. 2.—A county seat war is to be waged in Clear Creek county at the next general election to be held in November, 1912. Idaho Springs taxpayers have started a campaign to take the county seat from Georgetown.

The European business men have long recognized the innumerable factors in city government which effect business and have been in advance of the Americans in giving proper direction to the development of the communities in which they live and do business.

MRS. INEZ JOHNSON LEWIS.

In running condition. Skirting the hill he raced back to Colorado Springs where the surgical attention of Dr. G. W. Padley was immediately secured for the injured woman.

Mrs. Lewis has been married but for a few months. Her husband, H. L. Lewis, is in Denver at the present time. For several years Mrs. Lewis, who was Miss Inez Johnson, has been superintendent of county instruction. It has been her custom to make trips over the county which her business necessitates in automobiles. The one which almost drove her to her death yesterday afternoon was a livery car which she secured at one of the downtown garages.

NOLEN TALKS ABOUT BEAUTIFYING CITIES

John Nolen of Boston, landscape artist and authority on city planning, delivered an interesting illustrated lecture on "Civic Improvements and Their Relation to Civic Growth" at Perkins hall last night, under the auspices of the Civic club.

He paid a high tribute to Colorado Springs and said that few cities of its size have made more improvements. He pointed out that it was necessary for a city to develop individually and that residents would do well to investigate the cost of improvements.

"It requires money to make cities beautiful," he said, "but in every case the expenditure for this purpose has reaped a benefit that is much greater proportionately."

Improvement of cities, said Mr. Nolen, develops unselfishness, among the members of the community, for it makes them realize that the property belongs not only to those who actually own it, but to everyone with stereoscopic views, for the most part depicting scenes in foreign countries.

Addresses Chamber of Commerce
Yesterday afternoon Mr. Nolen gave an address at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Antlers, taking as his subject "Success in City Building." He said in part:

"The practical object back of better city planning is to save money and to find new ways of making money. There has been a misconception that city planning had to do primarily with beauty. But it really has to do with city efficiency. Another misconception has been that city planning is primarily for the big places, as a matter of fact the great opportunity and need is the smaller cities."

There is a great change going over the country in civic matters. It is an attempt to recognize the sanitary, economic, aesthetic laws which control the laying out and the development of the city to substitute skill and common sense for haphazard procedure. The origin of this movement has been mainly with the business men and it has found its expression through chambers of commerce, boards of trade and similar organizations.

The European business men have long recognized the innumerable factors in city government which effect business and have been in advance of the Americans in giving proper direction to the development of the communities in which they live and do business.

Japanese Peace Envoy HERE ON LECTURE TOUR
Inago Nitobe, president of the First National college, Japan, arrived in Colorado Springs yesterday and is the guest of President and Mrs. Slocum of Colorado college.

Dr. Nitobe is in America in behalf of the International Friendship movement which is fostered by Andrew Carnegie. He will address the students of Colorado college in the chapel at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow morning.

While in America Dr. Nitobe will lecture upon the virtue of peace before the student bodies of the greater universities of the United States. He is the official representative of the Japanese government and as such will expatiate upon the advisability of international peace and good fellowship.

Dr. Nitobe received his degrees from universities in America and Germany. He is looked upon as being one of the leading educators and scholars of Japan. While touring America he is accompanied by his American wife and his secretary.

HUMANE ASSN. PROTESTS METHODS OF SLAUGHTER
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Pleas for better treatment of the horse, a protest against the existing methods of slaughtering cattle and a discussion regarding the proper sheltering of animals, featured the opening of the thirty-fifth annual convention of the American Humane association here today.

About 200 delegates were in attendance. Dr. William O. Stillman, who has served seven terms as president of the association, probably will be chosen to succeed himself at the election Wednesday.

"GIVE US OUR DEAD," CRY IN AUSTIN

Flood Survivors Bitterly Oppose Any Attempts to Burn Debris

NO ROOM FOR THE VICTIMS

Influx of Sightseers So Great That Needy Are Crowded From Commissary

AUSTIN, Pa., Oct. 2.—Twenty-four known dead and 56 missing and believed to be buried beneath the debris is the official census tonight of Austin's loss of life in the flood of Saturday. It is conceded, however, that several visitors were in town that day and undoubtedly perished.

Including them and allowing for errors in compilation, the total dead probably will reach 150.

Twenty-one of the 24 bodies recovered have been identified and of the missing hope is entertained that some may be accounted for.

The problem is to remove the dead from the thousands of tons of debris choking the narrow valley. To do so before it becomes necessary to burn the ruins and save the living from an epidemic of disease, an army of laborers must reach the town within the next 36 hours, officials say. Otherwise the torch may transform the wreckage into a pyre.

The single wire between Austin and the outside world carried an urgent plea for workmen to Buffalo, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

Encouraging responses are hoped for early tomorrow.

"Give us our dead," is Austin's cry, voiced by State Senator Baldwin, who lost father, mother, sister and other relatives. Only the body of his father, John E. Baldwin had been recovered tonight. The others are located in the ruins.

"I speak for the people of Austin," he said. "Pennsylvania owes us the bodies of our loved ones. For 48 hours they have been in the ruins; how much longer will the commonwealth leave them there? The state should have 1,000 men working here now."

Against Applying Torch
Austin stands two men against the suggestion that it may be necessary to put the torch to her ruins. Peeling runs high and should the health authorities be forced to this extremity, there is no foretelling the result.

Pennsylvania state constabulary holds the town in its grasp, however, and the troopers will remain here until Health Commissioner Dixon gives the word to go.

The flood-swept valley offers no shelter for the laborers expected tomorrow and unless they come in hunk cars they cannot be cared for.

Food and clothing reached Austin in carload lots and there was enough to eat for all.

Across the street from the morgue life insurance companies nailed their shingles to a tree near a small shack today topping them with a sign "Inquire within." A file of weeping women took turns at recording their claims.

A call for aid came from flood-swept Costello, three miles below. Conditions there parallel the situation here, the distinction being that the town is much smaller and less damaged than Austin while the death list at Costello remains at two. It is believed that all others escaped.

Eight men charged with looting the ruins were arraigned tonight before Magistrate Johnson and committed to the Croudersport jail for grand jury action.

"A little girl entered a wrecked dwelling and left with jewelry valued at several hundreds of dollars. She was stopped and relieved of her loot by the police."

All Outsiders Barred
Shortly before 10 o'clock today State Commissioner Dixon issued an order that no one but officials and employees of the state health department, other officials and newspaper correspondents should be allowed in the flood zone.

TAKE OATH OF OFFICE
Judges State Court of Appeals Then Notifies Supreme Court of Organization

DENVER, Oct. 2.—Oath of office was administered today to each of the judges of the new state court of appeals. All excepting Judges D. Walling, met in one of their rooms on the third floor of the capitol.

Presiding Judge Tully Scott called the meeting to order and Justice Musser of the supreme court administered the oath. The oath was administered to Judge Walling at St. Joseph's hospital. Judge Walling has been confined to his bed for some time but is improving.

The court then proceeded to elect Alexander W. Grant chief deputy clerk of the court and Clinton Tillery, bailiff. The rules of the supreme court were adopted temporarily to govern the court of appeals and a notice was prepared to inform the supreme court officials that the new court had organized.

REAR ADMIRAL SCHLEY DIES SUDDENLY

Expires Without Warning as He Was Walking in Streets of New York City

UNKNOWN FOR SHORT TIME

Body Identified Later From Personal Effects He Carried on Him

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Unrecognized by a single person in the curious throng that rushed to his aid, Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley, United States navy, retired, fell dead in front of the New York Lyceum on West Forty-fourth street today. The death of this notable figure in the naval history of the nation was for the moment that of an unknown man in a strange crowd.

The admiral's sudden death is attributed to cerebral hemorrhage which attacked him shortly after he, with Mrs. Schley, reached New York this morning from a visit to Mount Kisco, and had called at the New York Yacht club for his mail. As the admiral was walking through West Forty-fourth street a passerby who saw him stagger, grasped his arm and tried to support him. Despite the stranger's service, however, the admiral fell helpless to the street and a physician who pressed his way through the crowd that quickly gathered pronounced him dead. There was a gasp over his right eye where his forehead had struck the sidewalk.

A slight fracture of the frontal bone had issued, but surgeons who examined the body expressed disbelief that this injury in any way contributed to death. His identity was quickly established by letters and papers found in his pocket, and from an inscription on his gold watch, which had been presented to the admiral by his nation.

FIRST AERIAL MAIL ROUTE ESTABLISHED

Aviator Ovington Authorized to Carry Letters From N. Y. to Los Angeles

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Transportation of United States mail across the continent by aeroplane, over a designated route, by a special mail messenger appointed by Postmaster General Hitchcock, is a test that will be undertaken this week.

Earle E. Ovington, who was designated by Mr. Hitchcock to carry the mails over a short route between Nassau and Brooklyn, is completing preparations for the transportation of official mail across the continent from New York to Los Angeles.

Postmaster General Hitchcock issued an order today authorizing Ovington to act as a mail carrier and directing the postmaster at New York to dispatch letters via the aeroplane route. A special mail messenger route was established by the department, numbered "Route 60,001" and is the longest mail messenger route ever established.

A special mail pouch has been made, the ordinary pouch being too cumbersome and unwieldy. The pouch will contain letters for Chicago, Detroit, as well as for delivery in Los Angeles. The postmasters in both cities have been instructed to receive and handle the mail delivered by Ovington.

The aeroplane will carry a small sign bearing the words "U. S. Mail." Ovington also will carry his credentials from Postmaster General Hitchcock which will insure him every possible aid from postmasters and postal officials.

Ovington has assured the postmaster department that he will start from New York within a day or two.

SICK HEADACHE, DIZZINESS, TORPID LIVER, CONSTIPATION--CASCARETS

Sick headaches! Always trace them to lazy liver, delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Purgative matter, instead of being thrown out, is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, awful throbbing, sickening headache. Cascarets remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the poison move on and out and purifying the blood. The effect is almost instantaneous. Ladies whose sensitive organism are especially prone to sick headaches, need not suffer, for they can be quickly cured by Cascarets. One taken tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box means a clear head and perfect health for months. Don't forget the children—their little heads need a good, gentle cleansing, too. Children gladly take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

WOULD STRIKE OUT RULE AGAINST DANCING, ETC

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—The southern California conference of the Methodist Episcopal church today adopted almost unanimously a resolution asking the general conference which meets next May in Minneapolis to strike from the discipline of the church the rule against card playing, theater going and dancing.

In place of the paragraph prohibiting against these amusements it is urged by the southern California Methodists that the statement of John Wesley, making it a matter of conscience with the individual church member be substituted.

AVIATOR WHO CROSSED ROCKIES IS KILLED

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 2.—Aviator Cromwell Dixon, who flew across the Rocky mountains last Sunday fell from a height of 100 feet at the Interstate fair grounds here today and received injuries which caused his death.

"Caught by an adverse current of air, his machine turned on its side and plunged into a rocky railroad cut. While falling he pluckily attempted to right his aeroplane and shouted to the spectators:

"Here I go, here I go."

He was picked up unconscious and rushed to a hospital, where it was found that his skull was fractured, his right leg broken and his collar bone shattered.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 2.—Although he had only recently passed his nineteenth birthday, Cromwell Dixon was a pioneer in the development of air crafts. His first ascension was made at the Ohio state fair in this city; his home, in August, 1907, when Dixon was only 15 years old. His machine, a dirigible had been constructed by himself and included in its mechanism parts of a bicycle. He won the honors at the meet over Knabenshue and several other competitors.

Dixon's father and mother endeavored to dissuade him from making his initial flight and since then had attempted to influence him to abandon aviation, but he adopted it as his vocation.

General conference," said one of the prominent delegates, "will pull the teeth of this whole question, which has been a mooted one in our church for many years and which has resulted in much misunderstanding and criticism."

GAVE MONEY BUT DID NOT KNOW HOW USED

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 2.—On the witness stand before the senatorial investigating committee today, a lawyer charged that corrupt use of money had contributed to his election. United States Senator Isaac Stephenson today testified that although he spent $100,000 in his campaign he had little knowledge as to just how it was spent, except that it was not used in violation of the law. The details, he said, he had left to his campaign managers.

As an instance of his ignorance of just where money went, he cited an item of $10,000 for postage.

Now, said Senator Stephenson, "I am president of more than a dozen active industries in this state and I have in my employ more than 2,000 men, some of whom have been with me for 50 years. In them I have every confidence. I do not pay any attention to the details of these industries."

"Just so when my campaign for nomination by the primaries in 1908 came on, I could not lay awake nights trying to figure out how the postage was used. I gave sums of money to my managers and told them to carry on a vigorous campaign and do everything to elect me, except that they must keep within the law. I cautioned them not to violate the law in any particular, so far as I know, they obeyed me."

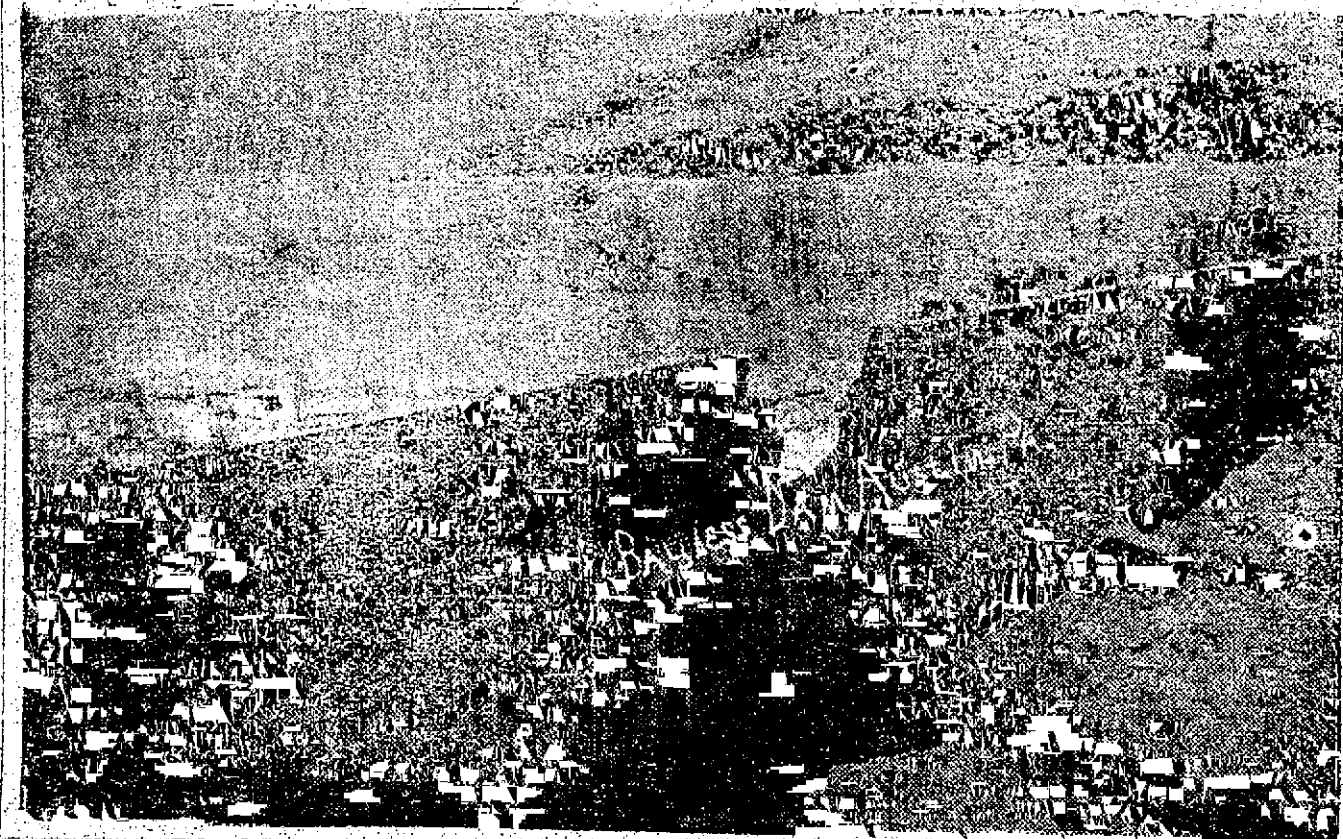

Did Not Question Closely.

Citing large expenses for advertising, burials, lithographs, advertising in newspapers and traveling expenses, the witness testified he frequently asked where so much money was going, but on being told it was a close fight and the state had to be systematically canvassed he questioned the matter no further.

Mr. Stephenson said he had given for campaign purposes sums of money to men who afterwards became candidates for the legislature, some of them being elected, but he was not aware of their candidacy when he gave them money.

"The record shows that you paid out to your managers one day $10,000 and a short time afterwards gave them $10,000 more," said Senator Heyburn, chairman. "Didn't you ever ask them what they were doing with all that money?"

"No, only in a general way. I told you they had done some thing or another for advertising them-

As the water and the break in the barrier occurred before there was time to dynamite the valve, the cement patch spoken of in the dispatches was used to fill in the hole shown in the picture.

GIVE US OUR DEAD

This order was issued because news of the disaster had attracted thousands of persons to Austin.

Most of those sightseers brought in nothing to eat and they have applied to the public commissary in such numbers that food victims have been crowded out and but for the officers the deserving would have had to go hungry.

Benjamin Wharton, secretary of the state board of charities and Herbert Post, of Philadelphia, special agent of the Children's Aid society, are working to care for children orphaned by the flood. For the present they will be put in receiving homes and later placed in proper permanent homes.

The first step toward an organized move to extricate the community from its calamity was taken today when Dr. Samuel Dixon, state commissioner of health, called a meeting and appointed a committee which immediately started work on a systematic basis.

An hour after the meeting a steam locomotive was at work in the main street of Austin, Texas and has been at it ever since, and will not stop until it has worked to the Buffalo and Susquehanna tracks down the valley to Cosello.

Another 100 men started work at Cosello to meet the crew from this place. A hundred bridge men are constructing two bridges to replace steel structures washed away.

A bread line was formed for the first time in Austin today. Therefore bread had been extended to the needy by neighbors or friends.

State Sanitary Engineer F. Herbert Shaw, who is in charge of getting out the bodies and clearing away the wreckage, has sent in a requisition for several hundred carpenters and they are being rushed here on a special train with tools.

Sheds, barns and other buildings needed to care for the homeless, will be erected. Unfilled holes for some of the work is being furnished by the Goodrich Lumber company, which is making this method of providing temporary employment for its 150 men. Hundreds of the men are also being put on the payroll of the state health department.

In making the canvass upon which tonight's estimate of the dead and missing was based care was taken to trace as far as possible survivors who had been taken to relief workers.

Two coroners applied to relief workers today for food, showing a copy of Temple's poems and a box half full of pulverized chocolate.

"This is all I saved," said she. "I slept all night on the ground with the food for a pillow, and the chocolate mixed with cold water is all that I had to eat."

A gaunt old man clad only in shirt and trousers appeared to an officer of the state police.

"Can't you lend me an overcoat for my wife?" he said. "She just left the hospital today—had been there six months—and I am afraid she will die if I can't get some clothes for her."

"How about yourself?" questioned the officer.

"I just want to borrow a coat for my wife," the old man replied.

"Here," answered the officer, "for moving his own overcoat, state that to your wife and here," as a proper near him removed his, "is one for you."

ADMIT SMUGGLING CHARGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Nathan Allen, the millionaire leather manufacturer of Memphis, Tenn., organizer of the Southern Coal company, pleaded guilty today to the charge of having smuggled goods into the country, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $12,000 and Collins $10,000. Allen and Collins were indicted in connection with the smuggling of jewelry valued at $150,000, which, it is charged, was given to Mrs. Helen Powell Johnson, who appeared as the principal witness against the pair before the grand jury.

According to a statement of District Attorney Wise, who urged a jail sentence, Judge Hough, in listening to a plea for clemency, said Allen and Collins were in no different category than that of Mrs. Adriance, Menzo-Morganthau and Governor Rollins, and that the fact that these defendants were accompanied by women of ill-repute did not in any way have any bearing on the crime against the United States.

District Attorney Wise, in asking that a prison sentence be imposed, said the government had information that indicated that a government inspector had been bribed. Immediately after being given the two men were subpoenaed to appear before the federal grand jury tomorrow.

SAYS MONEY CAME FROM BANK ROBBERY: ARRESTED

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Oct. 2.—With his pockets full of money which he at first boasted was part of the $250,000 spoil of the New Westminster bank robbery, and then said was obtained from the sale of a ranch in Montana, a man giving the names of Alex. Johnson and "Bill" Wheeler, was arrested here today, and is being held on a technical charge pending an inquiry into his identity.

When taken into custody he had over $500 in American bank bills in his possession. He is said to have deposited $10,000 in cash in two banks since his arrival here, besides spending money lavishly in amusements.

District Attorney Wise, in asking that a prison sentence be imposed, said the government had information that indicated that a government inspector had been bribed. Immediately after being given the two men were subpoenaed to appear before the federal grand jury tomorrow.

SICK HEADACHE, DIZZINESS, TORPID LIVER, CONSTIPATION--CASCARETS

Sick headaches! Always trace them to lazy liver, delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Poisonous matter, instead of being thrown out, is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, awful throbbing, sickening headache. Cascarets remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the poison move on and out and purifying the blood. The effect is almost instantaneous. Ladies whose sensitive organisms are especially prone to sick headaches, need not suffer, for they can be quickly cured by Cascarets. One taken tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box means a clear head and perfect health for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too. Children gladly take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

In place of the paragraph prohibiting against these amusements it is urged by the southern California Methodists that the statement of John Wesley, making it a matter of conscience with the individual church member be substituted.

AVIATOR WHO CROSSED ROCKIES IS KILLED

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 2.—Aviator Cromwell Dixon, who flew across the Rocky mountains last Sunday fell from a height of 100 feet at the Interstate fair grounds here today and received injuries which caused his death.

Caught by an adverse current of air, the machine turned on its side and plunged into a rocky railroad cut. While falling he pluckily attempted to right his aeroplane and shouted to the spectators:
"Here I go, here I go."
He was picked up unconscious and rushed to a hospital, where it was found that his skull was fractured, his right leg broken and his collar bone shattered.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 2.—Although he had only recently passed his nineteenth birthday, Cromwell Dixon was a pioneer in the development of air craft. His first ascension was made at the Ohio state fair in this city, his home, in August, 1907, when Dixon was only 15 years old. His machine, a dirigible had been constructed by himself and included in its mechanism parts of a bicycle. He won the honors at the meet over Knabenshue and several other competitors.

Dixon's father and mother endeavored to dissuade him from making his initial flight and since then had attempted to influence him to abandon aviation, but he adopted it as his vocation.

GIVE US OUR DEAD

This order was issued because news of the disaster had attracted thousands of persons to Austin.

Few of these sightseers brought in anything to eat and they have applied to the public commissary in such numbers that food victims have been crowded out and but for the citizens the deserving would have had to go hungry.

Beasley Wharton, secretary of the state board of charities and Herbert M. Peck of Philadelphia, special agent of the Children's Aid society, are arranging to care for children orphaned by the flood. For the present they will be put in receiving homes and later placed in proper permanent homes.

The first step toward an organized move to extricate the community from its desolation was taken today when Dr. Samuel Dixon, state commissioner of health, called a meeting and appointed a committee which immediately started work on a systematic basis.

An hour after the meeting a steam derrick and 100 men were at work in the main street. Telegraph poles and lines were torn from the ruins and laid aside while the laborers worked to clear the Buffalo and Susquehanna tracks down the valley to Costello.

Another 100 men started work at Costello to meet the crew from this place. A hundred bridge men are constructing two bridges to replace steel structures washed away.

A broad line was formed for the first time in Austin today. Heretofore relief had been extended to the needy by neighbors or friends.

State Sanitary Engineer F. Herbert Snow, who is in charge of getting out the bodies and cleaning away the wreckage, has sent in a requisition for several hundred carpenters and they are being rushed here on a special train with tools.

Sheds, kitchens and other buildings needed to care for the homeless, will be erected. Unskilled labor for some of the work is being furnished by the Colorado Lumber company, which is taking this method of providing temporary employment for its idle men. Hundreds of the men are also being put on the payroll of the state health department.

In making the canvass upon which tonight's estimate of the dead and missing was based care was taken to trace as far as possible survivors who left town after the disaster. One woman applied to relief workers today for food, showing a copy of Tennyson's poems and a box half full of pulverized chocolate.

"This is all I saved," said she. "I slept all night on the ground with the book for a pillow, and the chocolate mixed with cold water is all that I had to eat."

A gaunt old man clad only in shirt and trousers, appealed to an officer of the state police.

"Can't you lend me an overcoat for my wife?" he said. "She just left the hospital Friday—had been there six months—and I am afraid she will die if I can't get some clothes for her."

"How about yourself?" questioned the officer.

"I just want to borrow a coat for my wife," the old man replied.

"Here," answered the officer, removing his own overcoat, "take that to your wife and here," as a trooper near him removed his, "is one for you."

of the Southern Coal company, the government had information that pleaded guilty today in the federal court to smuggling jewelry into the country, and were sentenced—Allen to pay a fine of $12,000 and Collins $1,000. Allen and Collins were indicted in connection with the smuggling of jewelry valued at $150,000, which, it is alleged, was given to Mrs. Helen Dwyer Jenkins, who appeared as the principal witness against the pair before the grand jury.

tion, that we really fear no other nation. They know that we are a peace-loving nation.
"We are not looking for insults from other nations, and we don't tear insults from other nations. We are big enough, even if we should be insulted by anybody, to just do what a great, strong man does when he is insulted under conditions where he can restrain himself at all. He holds himself in and says, 'I am a greater man because I resist the temptation to lick your pusillanimous little body.'"

Resisting Monroe Doctrine.
"Now, my friends, ought we not accept that institution from them? It is said that these treaties ought to be objected to because we shall have to arbitrate certain questions we do not want to arbitrate. There is the Monroe doctrine. Mr. Moore, the greatest authority on international law, says that that doctrine is a national policy that would not come within the words of the treaty. Sir Edward Grey, the English secretary of foreign affairs, announced on the floor of parliament that they were in favor of the doctrine, and that at any rate it would not come within the terms of the treaty. Then it is said that the question of immigration will have to be arbitrated and insisted upon by the yellow races of China and Japan.
"These things are now covered by treaty. Everybody admits that without a treaty this country has complete power to exclude anybody from its shores that is not a citizen of the United States. We might say that no red-headed man shall come into the country if we wanted to. We don't want to, because I think they are a very good class of men. The question of immigration can never get into arbitration. It is a question of a treaty, a domestic question to be settled wholly by domestic law.

Pleased With Japan's Action.
"I want to give you one instance of the very beneficial effect on the negotiations of these treaties. England was bound to Japan under treaty in such a way that it was doubtful—I would not say it was more than that—whether, if she made an agreement to arbitrate everything with us, she was not violating an agreement with Japan by which she might be bound to fight us on something. What did Japan do? Japan notified England that so far as the arbitration between her and the United States was concerned, that if it in any way abrogated their treaty of offensive and defensive alliance, then they abated their treaty to that extent.

"Now, I say that that was a distinct step forward, and it was the recognition by Japan of the wisdom of the treaties that we propose to make and an expression of a hope, perhaps not to be realized immediately, but an expression of a hope, by Japan, that such treaties might increase and become more influential. I hope the senate will ratify these treaties, and I invoke your influence in that direction.

Arrives in Denver Today.
DENVER, Oct. 2.—President Taft will arrive in Denver tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, instead of 7:50, the time originally scheduled.

Notice of the change in time was received this morning by Burlington officials from those in charge of the president's train, who requested that the schedule be changed west of Lincoln.

Rearrangement of the program for the president's visit in Denver will be made today. The change will probably interfere with plans for the "Yankee" breakfast at the Country club and also with the proposed talk by the president at the University of Denver.

All the public schools in the city will be closed all day to give the children the fullest opportunity to see President Taft as he rides about the city. Superintendent Chadsey this morning took up the matter with the school board and before noon every school in the city had been notified that the children are to be given the holiday.

The banquet will, in no sense, partake of the reception of President Taft at the University of Denver tomorrow morning were completed today.

All departments of the university will be closed to enable all students to hear the address. The doors of the gymnasium where President Taft will speak will be thrown open to outsiders at 8:15 o'clock, after the seating of the students and invited guests.

There will be seats for 1,000 visitors and standing room for 1,000.

decided not to offer any resistance to the Italian campaign against Tripoli, the department is not sure that a state of war actually exists.
The officials are in no hurry to issue this proclamation for a neutrality proclamation does not affect the international status of the belligerents in any way as there is no direct communication between the United States and Tripoli. It is intended solely as a warning and a protection for merchants and shipmasters.
France, on September 30, issued the usual proclamation announcing its intention to maintain strict neutrality.
No action has been taken upon suggestions that the United States offer mediation between Turkey and Italy under article III of The Hague treaty. It was felt that some European power or a concert of powers should make this move and it is thought that Germany is actually taking soundings with this end in view.
The Italian change of affairs here is expected to communicate to the state department the text of the "expose-motif" setting forth Italy's side of the war.

sured that at last the ambassador has proposed, on the emperor's advice that Turkey take Tripoli to Italy, the emperor undertaking that Turkey shall receive adequate compensation.

"A special commission has been formed to recruit volunteers for the country's defense. From all parts of Serbia and Montenegro great military activity is reported. Turkish reinforcements have been sent to Janina.

"Turkey sent her final note to the powers last night, appealing for friendly intervention. If the response is unfavorable orders will at once be given to begin military operations.

"We have had great difficulty," he continued, "in restraining public opinion. Should the last appeal for intervention prove futile German protection afforded Italians will be of little avail.

"A mob today attacked the Italian consulate at Salonika. The consulate was seriously damaged although soldiers prevented it from being wrecked. The men then surrounded the ex-ambassador's villa and fired revolvers at the windows.

"The authorities are taking a census of the Italians in Constantinople and an inventory of their property. If the war continues, Italian convents and all other property will be confiscated.

"The murder of a girl in a cafe last night caused rioting. That is the serious aspect here. Any untoward incident stirs the people to excitement. The police, however, are handling the crowds well.

"The Turkish warships in the Dardanelles are the battleships, Hamidieh, Harbessa, Terzigit, Reis, the cruiser Medidieh, and the destroyers Tird-Zamir, Zengin, Mugennit, Hildmet and Zeduiser. The fleet has anchored off Nagara.

ARABS' MOOD THREATENING

MALTA, Oct. 2.—A p. m.—Word just received from Tripoli says the Arabs and Turks are enmeshing behind the city. Sixty thousand Arabs, said to be armed with muskets, hold a strong position 50 miles behind the town in a country which is an excellent natural stronghold. An advance guard is stationed 20 miles from Tripoli. The Turkish garrison has left the forts.

SFAK, Tunis, Oct. 2.—The Arabs here are quiet, but anti-foreign outbreaks are feared. The Greek steamer Alkeltis has arrived here with 300 refugees. The steamer left Tripoli Saturday afternoon. She reports that the Arabs are entrenched in the hinterland. The Italian squadron is stopping all steamers and has sent several away from Tripoli, one of which carried a number of correspondents.

MALTA, Oct. 2.—Seven refugees aboard the British steamer Castle-garth, which reached here today with 1,300 refugees from Tripoli, went insane with their sufferings. Most of the fugitives are penniless. Several of the Americans aboard the steamer report that the Arabs in Tripoli are suspicious of the Turks, fearing that the country is about to be sold. Both are ready to fight.

Dr. Theodore Lassnitz, president of the Antislavery association at Hannover, in a lecture on the psychology of noise, recently delivered in that city, said that the desire to make a noise could never be conquered.

New Skin Absorber In Great Demand

(National Drug Review.)
Since the discovery that mercurized wax possesses remarkable absorbent powers when applied to the skin, the demand for it as a complexion renovator has been tremendous. Drugists in every section report sales as far exceeding those of anything similar they have ever had on their shelves.
The mercuride in the wax, according to Prof. Hoffman, gently absorbs the devitalized cuticle in minute particles, so that the user gradually loses her old, worn-out complexion, the more youthful under-skin taking its place. Cutaneous eruptions, blotches, moth patches, tan and freckles are of course removed at the same time. As the mercuride wax is entirely harmless, and easy to use, women all over the country are purchasing and using it to quickly rejuvenate their complexions. The wax is applied to face, neck or hands the same as cold cream, allowed to remain over night, then washed off with warm water.

BEGIN CUTTING 1911 BEET CROP

Means Special Work for 14,000 Persons Besides 1,500 Regularly Employed

DENVER, Oct. 2.—The 16 sugar factories in Colorado today began cutting the 1911 crop of sugar beets. The farmers supplying the plants of the great Western Sugar company alone will receive $36,000,000 for the crop. The field in northern Colorado had approximately 65,000 acres in beets this year, an area equal to all the other beet sections in the state combined. The beet crop of 1911 will average a gain of about 15 per cent over 1910.

The factories in the state represent an investment of $20,000,000 to $30,000,000. The factories are located at Fort Collins, Greeley, Windsor, Longmont, Loveland and Eaton in northern Colorado, and at Holly, Las Animas, La Junta, Rocky Ford and Sugar City in the southern part of the state, and at Grand Junction on the western slope.

Seven thousand men and women have been or are now being engaged in the fields. A like number will find employment in the factories when they begin their annual grind. While other workers to the number of 1,500 depend entirely upon the industry for their livelihood.

Approximately 1,000,000 tons of the valuable vegetable is expected; will be consumed before the mills close down for the season, and by far the greatest portion of this amount will come from the northern fields. There alone about 50,000 acres of land have been cultivated exclusively to the beet—possibly a greater acreage than that of all other beet growing parts of Colorado combined.

STATE RIGHTS ADVOCATES PUT RESOLUTIONS THROUGH

DENVER, Oct. 2.—By a vote of 410 to 35, the public lands convention here today adopted resolutions declaring, in the main, against the present method of federal control of natural resources. The resolutions, which begin with an endorsement of the principle of conservation under such liberal and proper laws and regulations as will be consistent with justice and peace and preservation among the people most directly interested, are best summed up in a "declaration of principles" contained in that portion of the document in which a permanent organization is recommended. This declaration of principles is as follows:

First.—That the public domain held by the federal government in trust primarily for the benefit of those citizens of the United States who will locate, settle upon, develop and improve the same.

Second.—That the states and territories in which the public domain is situated are entitled to have recourse to such lands for the support of local governments and institutions.

Third.—That it is contrary to the policy of republican institutions that the federal government should retain and operate landed estates through bureau or otherwise. Public domain should be opened and developed by private enterprises under just and reasonable laws which will prevent acquisition or control of those resources by monopolies or their use and development for any purposes inimical to the general welfare of the people of the United States or the states in which the resources are situated.

Fourth.—That the abandonment of the public land policies under which the middle west was developed and prospered is unjust to the public land states and territories and that restoration of our former land policies will secure the widest distribution of public lands in limited quantities among citizens of our nation and will prevent the great emigration of American citizens now flowing across our northern borders.

Fifth.—That each state of the Union has a sovereign and jurisdictional control over waters within the state and the right in all things to control and regulate their use, subject only to the paramount right of navigation, far as navigation may be required by the interests of commerce.

Test of strength between the "federalist" and "state rights" factions came immediately upon the report of the committee on resolutions, when Dr. W. C. Sturgis, dean of the forestry department of Colorado college, moved that resolutions previously presented and favoring federal control of natural resources be substituted for those reported by the committee. On the vote on this motion, the "federalists" mustered their full strength, 35, seven votes coming from the Colorado delegation, 22 from New Mexico and six from South Dakota. Against the motion Colorado cast 19, including 14 votes, New Mexico 30 and South Dakota six. Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, Oklahoma, Utah and Wyoming voted solidly with the "state rights" faction.

Prior to the adoption of the resolutions, Chairman Mondell appointed the following on permanent organization: Arizona, A. J. Sampson; California, E. A. Lane; Colorado, J. Arthur Eddy; Idaho, G. A. Gay; Nevada, S. S. McClellan; New Mexico, L. B. Prince; Oklahoma, A. S. Parks; South Dakota, S. H. Lea; Utah, J. W. Musser, Wyoming, P. Sullivan.
